- In case of miss outs in login kindly send a mail to HR , mark CC to your reporting manager.

Probation & Confirmation

Objective :

To provide a time frame to evaluate the “Performance and Culture fit” factor vis-à-vis the internal set standards in organisation. This also gives time to the employee to understand his/her compatibility with the organization.

Scope :

All new joiners at all levels will join on probation for a period of six months from their date of joining.

Probation:

A status given to new employees of a company which allows the supervisor to evaluate closely the progress and skills of the newly hired employee, determine appropriate assignment, and monitor other aspects of the employee such as honesty, reliability and interactions with co-workers, supervisors and customers. No leave shall be allowed to Employee in the first month of their employment. Employee can take up to one leave i.e. probationary leave, in their second to sixth month of employment. Leaves should be approved by their reporting manager else salary shall be deducted accordingly.

Confirmation: If employee is able to meet the set goals and seems to be suitable for the job, company confirms the job of the employee and he/she gets the benefits of confirmed employee. The process is mentioned below:

Process:

1. On successful completion of six months HR will send the necessary confirmation form to the Manager.
2. Within 10 days of receipt of the confirmation form the Manager should have a formal discussion with the Employee. This discussion should revolve around the Employee performance on KRA/KPI for the specific period, any limitations he/she has in executing his/her duties etc.
3. Based on discussion the information will be passed to HR either on confirmation of services or extension of probation for the employee. Extension can be granted for a span of 1 to 2 months depending on the approval of the Manager. Extension of probation period or confirmations will be finally approved from CEO.

Human Resource Policy Manual

4. Confirmation/ probation extension letter will be issued to the employee.

Incase an employee is not able to meet the expected performance then company will put them on PIP.

Performance Improvement Plan. (PIP), also known as a performance action plan, is a tool to give an employee with performance deficiencies the opportunity to succeed. It may be used to address failures to meet specific job goals or to ameliorate behavior-related concerns.

Process.

Step1. With reference to the step 3 of Confirmation, a PIP will be provided for a span of 1 to 2 months depending on discussion with manager.

Step2. A performance improvement plan will be shared to employee along with defined timelines for the achievement of the same by manager.

Step 3. There will be a fortnightly discussion on the employee progress on the performance improvement plan. Incase the employee under consideration does not scale up on performance parameters the employee's services can be terminated post discussion and approval of the immediate manager.

#Note – No documents will be provided incase of failure to serve the notice period and abscond.

Benefits. After successful completion of Confirmation formalities Employee will be benefitted with 32 leaves as mentioned below:

- Earned leaves (EL)/ PL
- Sick Leaves (SL)
- Casual Leaves (CL)
- Maternity Leaves (ML) as per the laws in force and organization policy.

Separation Process

Resignation :

Objective

To ensure a smooth transition of the employee from the Company.

Process

1. The employee must submit resignation to his / her Manager in writing via Mail looping HR. The HR must accept the resignation, specify the last working day of the employee.
2. Meeting with HR in which the management will try to retain you or they will accept your resignation.
3. In your acceptance mail the HR will mention your Notice period.
4. On your last day you have to submit all your company assets to HR and appear for Exit interview for feedback.
5. Your last month salary or any due amount, incentive , reimbursement would be considered in full and finally settlement which company will liable to pay in 45 days along with the documents.

Termination Policy:

During the probationary period, either party shall be entitled to terminate the contract of employment by giving seven to fifteen days of notice period.

If in the reasonable opinion of company you are guilty of misconduct, company may terminate your employment without notice and pay thereof. Misconduct includes but is not limited to dishonesty, theft, misrepresentation, breach of business, conduct guidelines, policies, applicable laws and refusal to obey reasonable command of supervisor.

Manager can not directly terminate an Employee rather they shall involve HR in the matter so that official termination process can take place without any hurdles.

Exit Formality:

Definition of Notice Period - An Employee is expected to intimate the Reporting Manager with a formal resignation well in advance and shall serve a period as approved by manager before quitting the job and shall continue to work in the same role till completion of such period and this period is called as 'notice period'.

Notice period buy out - If the Employee does not want to serve the notice period, then he/she has to pay for full notice period tenure e.g. (15 days/ 1 or 2 months salary) with mutual acceptance. The Employee serves partial notice with the releasing organization. The releasing organization calculates the amount due as notice cost in the full and final settlement and Employee has to pay that if they want a smooth exit formality and documentations (relieving or experience certificate) with mutual acceptance. Employee can negotiate notice cost with their balance of EL with mutual acceptance.

Notice Period - When an Employee puts their resignation, they have to serve his/her notice period depending on company's policy or Manager's decision (15days / 1 or 2 months). During the notice period the Employee is not paid any salary for his/her last month, they get a onetime full and final settlement within 45 days which include the leave balance and last month salary.

F&F includes all the formalities at the exit of an Employee.

We follow below mentioned formalities:

- 1) Exit Interview
- 2) No Due Certificates from concerned departments i.e. Uniform, I -Card, Laptop, Loan, etc
- 3) Handover and takeover signed copy
- 4) FnF calculation if possible and it will be done within 45 days.
- 5) Relieving Letter and/or Experience Certificate
- 6) Any other help required by the leaving candidate e.g. PF withdrawal help, Gratuity Applicability, reference letter etc.

Grievance Handling:

Grievance procedures which enable you to raise any concerns you have about your job with management. These concerns could be about the work itself, your working conditions or about the people you work with. The first thing to do if you have concerns is raise the matter via mail to your manager. If this is not possible, or if your problem is with that person, you should report to the HR department. No verbal communication will be entertain.

Leave Policy

This leave policy allows flexibility for Employees to meet personal, family, work and community commitments without compromising the achievement of business objectives. The policy applies to all Employees.

Eligibility

To apply for a leave of absence, you must be a salaried Employee. Interns, temporary and seasonal Employees, individuals who perform services as a contractor to the Company are not eligible to participate.

The following are the rules and regulations of leaves, which are applicable on all Employees:

1. Casual Leave (CL): Employees are eligible to avail 8 days of paid casual time off, per calendar year. Any unused casual leave will lapse at the end of the calendar year. CL cannot be availed more than 2 continuous days except in one occasion.
2. Sick Leave (SL): Employees are eligible to avail 8 days of paid sick time per calendar year. Employees availing sick leave must inform their Manager no later than the time they are scheduled to start work that day or 7 hours before the office timing. Any sick time off taken in excess of an Employee's paid sick time can be availed from casual leave on prior approval. Sick leave more than 2 days should be supported by a medical Certificate and Fitness Certificate to resume the duty, given by a registered Medical Practitioner / MBBS Doctor.
3. Earned Leave/Privileged Leave (EL): Employees are eligible to avail 16 days of Earned Leave (EL) per calendar year. Half of EL can be carried forward and any balance at the termination of employment, can be cashed as per the company policy.
4. Maternity Leave (ML): 26 weeks of maternity leaves will be provided to the expecting female Employees. Maternity Leave can be taken any time in 8 weeks before her due date. The twenty-six (26) calendar weeks are inclusive of rest days, off days and public holidays.
5. Paternity Leave: Employee can take up to 4-5 days of paternity leave after informing the Manager.
6. Compensatory Leave: If an Employee is coming to work during the holidays or on weekly offs, he can claim a compensatory off within the next one month.
7. Leave without Pay (LWP): Any leave availed without the permission will be treated as absenteeism (hence no salary is payable for this period) and the proper action can be taken against the Employee as per the standing orders of the company. During the period of LWP, the Employee will not receive any compensation but will continue to be eligible for all other benefits like they can rejoin office only if his/her Manager approves.

8. Sandwich Leave Policy: It is kind of leave policy in which a company deducts leaves of an Employee for week offs if that Employee applies leave the day after and before the week offs. For e.g. - If you have week offs on Saturday and Sunday and you apply leave for Friday and Monday. Then the week offs will be considered as leaves, thus total of 4 leaves will be deducted from your account instead of 2.

Following chart shows No. of SL, CL and EL an Employee can take within a year after confirmation. You can avail EL in advance with approval of Manager.

January-February-March	April-May-June
SL : 2 CL : 2 EL : 4	SL : 2 CL : 2 EL : 4
July-August-September	October-November-December
SL : 2 CL : 2 EL : 4	SL : 2 CL : 2 EL : 4

General Rules for availing Leave

- 1 Leave should be applied on the prescribed format known as 'Leave Application' and this should be your subject when you shoot a mail and its mandatory to file the leave in HRMS.
- 2 Half-day (1st/ 2nd) leave can be taken to cater to any personal needs/emergency. Employee should at least inform Manager in night or early morning before 7am and should have completed 5 hours. No mails will be entertain(exclude emergency cases) within the working hours.
- 3 Carry forward: CL and SL cannot be carry forward and will collapse at year end. Half of EL can be carry forward and any balance at the termination of employment, can be en cashed (Basic Pay) as per the company policy.
- 4 Leave should be availed, as mutually agreed between Employee and the Reporting Manager. Efforts should be made that leaves are taken in such a manner that it does not hamper your assigned duties. Management's decision in these cases will be final.

Workplace Communication

Objective :

Communication is a vital part of creating and maintaining a safe and efficient workplace environment. Interpersonal communication is the way we communicate with others. It may be with another person, to a group of people or to the public. It includes written, verbal and non-verbal communication.

To be considered:

when communicating with employees and clients some points need to take into consideration:

1. Who you are talking to
2. The type of information to be communicated (for example; confidential, good news/bad news, difficult technical information, instructions, general daily information)
3. What the most appropriate type of communication to use is (for example; verbal, email, memo, handover). This may be determined by the type of information to be communicated.

At all times employee needs to be respectful and polite to one another and to clients. At no time should they raise their voice, swear, or speak in a manner that makes another person feel belittled.

The way we speak to employee can make a difference to the way information is received. At RIMS verbal communication can be improved when:

- It should be clear and concise,
- It should be friendly and professional,
- Appropriate feedback should be given,
- Active listening should be used,
- There should be consideration of an understanding of cultural differences.

Email Writing:

When writing emails we should consider some points as mentioned below:

- Use polite and correct language,
- Start with a greeting, for example "Dear/Hello Name", until you know the person well enough to be able to address the email as "Hi Name",
- Explain yourself clearly,
- Don't use abbreviations in emails; write all out in full, and
- End the email correctly saying "regards, Name".

Remember that the person reading your email can't see you so they can't read your body language to see if you are joking, angry or serious.

Cultural Awareness:

RIMS aims to create a safe and culturally aware work environment.

We need to recognize that employees come from a variety of backgrounds and cultures and with them they bring a variety of different values, attitudes and beliefs. All employees need to be non judgmental, respectful and tolerant of each other's differences. When communicating with employees from other backgrounds care needs to be taken to ensure that cultural differences in both verbal and nonverbal communication are considered.
